WRO ROBOMISSION COPIED/SIMILAR ROBOT SOLUTION RULE

- 1. Identical robots and internet solutions: The objective of WRO is to ensure that participants/students design, build, and program the robot on their own to solve the mission and learn in this process. Coach intervention and support are required during the build season that starts with the announcement of the WRO yearly challenge in the month of January every year. Each solution needs to be unique and should be an outcome of the creative talent of the participants and should be students' own work at the WRO.
- 2. If two or more Robots are found to be identical or similar in design, the judges will direct the teams to carry out the necessary amendments in the physical design of the Robot so that they are not identical or similar looking. The judges can point it out to the teams at any time during calibration, practice, or robot inspection time. The teams will implement the design change to the satisfaction of the Judges. Once the Judges are satisfied that the design changes carried out by the teams have made visible and adequate differences in the design of previously identical robots, they may allow the team to participate in the Robot run. In case the team(s) fail to comply with this requirement, the team will not be allowed to participate in that Robot run.
- 3. Team technical interviews may be conducted on suspicion and/or randomly in any of the competition rounds. Coaches or accompanying people will not be allowed to participate, help, or speak on behalf of the team in the interview. Teams do not need to prepare any presentation or documentation for this technical interview.
- 4. Robots that are the same or too similar to the solutions available on the internet should not be allowed to participate in the run. They may be allowed to participate if they change their design with the allocated time for that run or in other runs.
